A COMMERCIAL DICTIONARY,

IN THE
ENGLISH AND RUSSIAN Languages;

WITH
A FULL EXPLANATION OF THE
RUSSIAN TRADE, &c. &c.

P R E F A C E.

THE AUTHOR was induced to undertake this Work, in consequence of the very increasing Commerce between ENGLAND and RUSSIA, and from a conviction in his own mind of the necessity of having some GUIDE by which the ENGLISH Trader, not conversant in the RUSSIAN Language, might soon acquire such a Pronunciation as to render himself intelligible to the RUSSIAN, without having recourse to the laborious and difficult task of learning the RUSSIAN Characters, which would appear so formidable to his imagination, that he would be deterred from making the attempt. To obviate this difficulty, the Author has substituted ENGLISH Characters, in a manner that he conceives, a very little attention to pronounce the Words as they are spelt, will enable the Reader to speak plain enough for a RUSSIAN easily to understand him. Some inaccuracies in a Work of this description must be expected, tho' every pains has been taken, consistent with the nature of such a design, to render it clear

clear and perspicuous, and so to accent the Words, as to make them sound almost as full, as if the RUSSIAN Characters were correctly pronounced.

The next object in view is to explain the various Articles of which the RUSSIA Commerce with England is composed; the annual Supplies from the interior parts of RUSSIA to ST. PETERSBURGH; the seasons of the year when such supplies are to be had, and the mode of conveying them to the Capital; also the various IMPORTATIONS as well into this, as into other Countries, from Russia.

The AUTHOR'S long residence HERE, and at ST. PETERSBURGH, has given him great opportunities of knowing the RUSSIAN Trade, and which the Person residing in only one Country, he presumes cannot have; therefore humbly submits, that the fruits of his observations and long experience will be found of real use to the Merchant, Trader, Masters of Ships, &c. &c. and give dispatch to their Business. The same information he trusts will not be unworthy the attention of the Trade of other Countries.

ALL PROHIBITIONS at ST. PETERSBURGH are defined, and he hopes not inaccurately; as likewise the Value of the different Coins in Use, Exchange, Weights, Measures, &c.

He

He has also subjoined an EDICT of His Imperial Majesty, PAUL I. which includes the last Duties laid on the Importation into Russia, &c. and also the Duties payable on Russia Produce at the Sound.

The countenance this Work has been honored with by the first and most respectable Merchants here, encourages the Author to hope his labours will not be less successful in RUSSIA, where he means, as early as possible, to transmit his Book, confiding in the motives which urged him to the attempt, that of being serviceable to the Commercial World; on such his intentions, only, he rests his claim to Public Patronage.

D I R E C T I O N S,

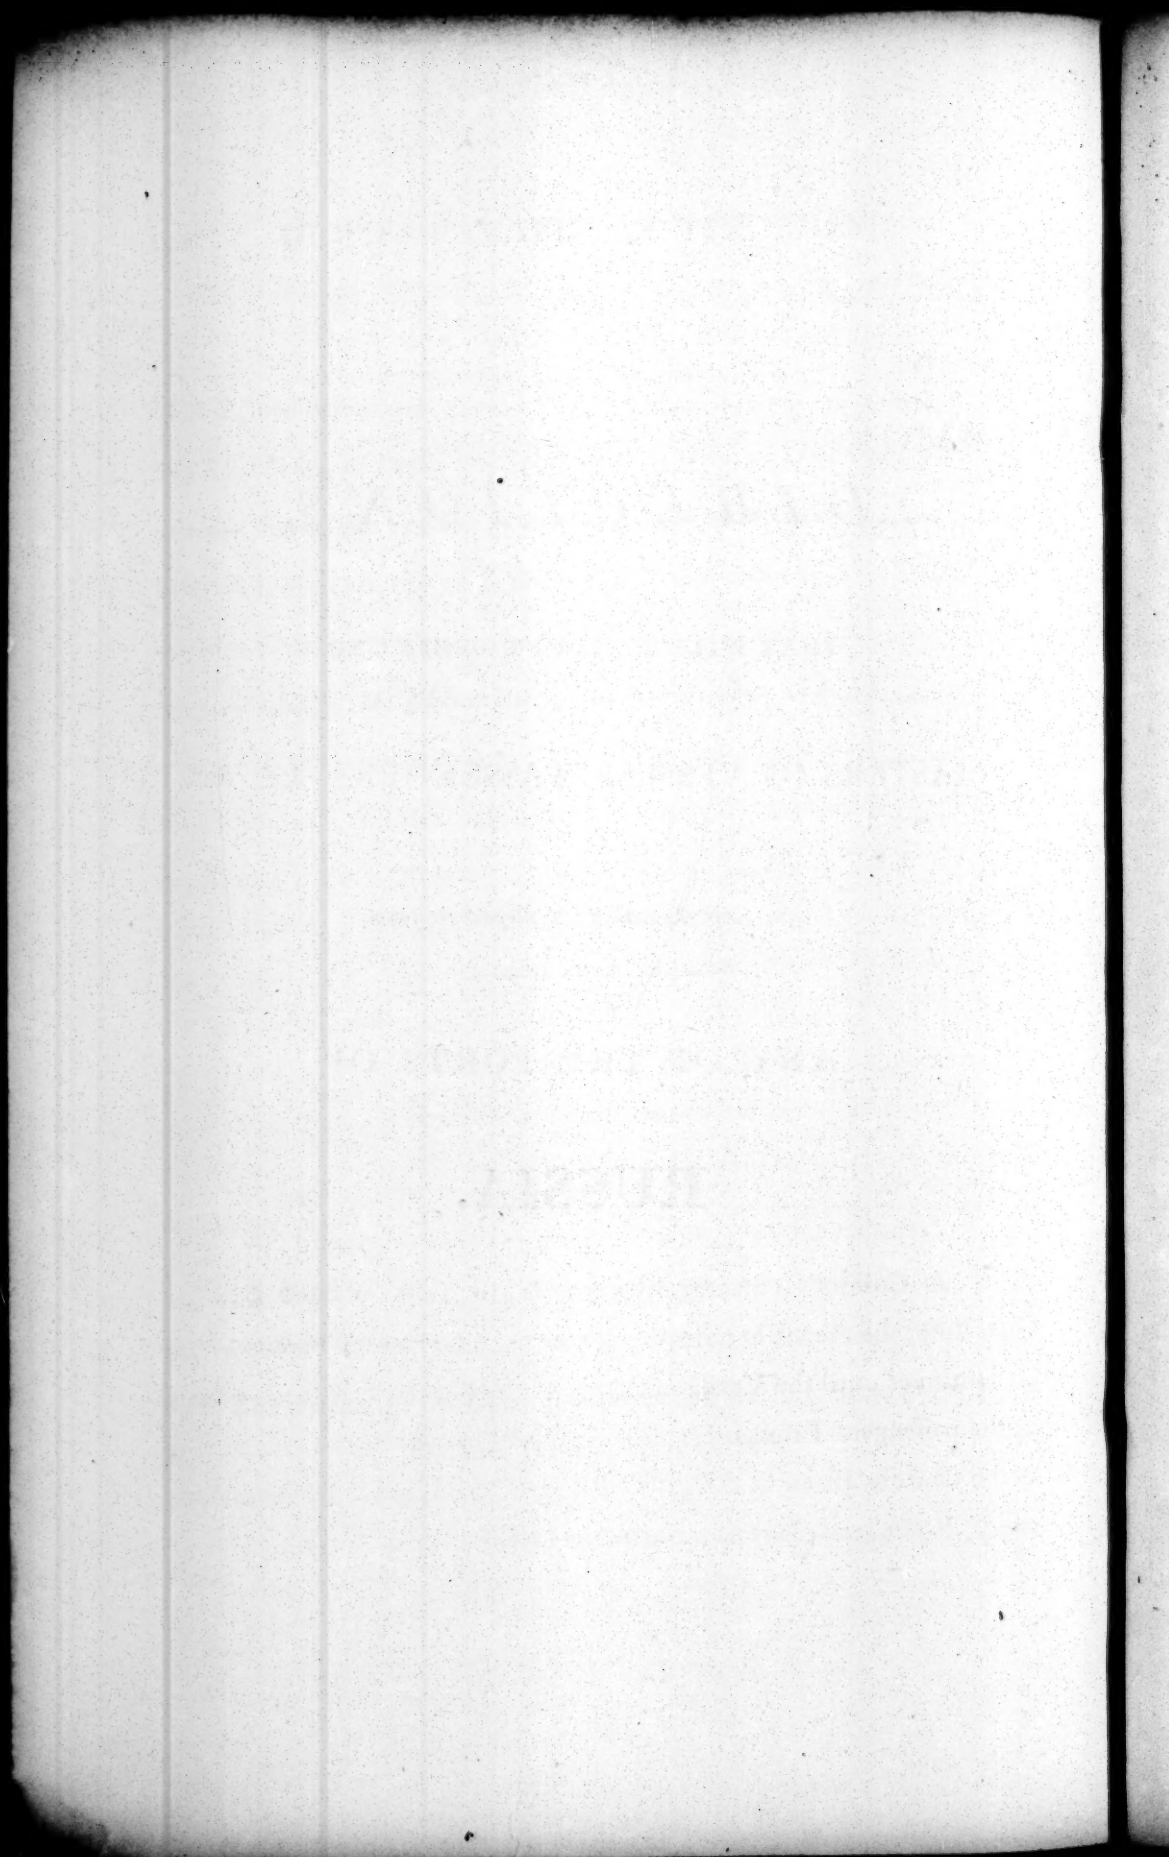

THAT WILL BE FOUND USEFUL TO

MASTERS OF VESSELS, PASSENGERS, &c. &c.

On their Arrival at, or Departure from,

ANY OF THE PORTS OF

RUSSIA.

D I R E C T I O N S,
FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF
MASTERS OF VESSELS, PASSENGERS, &c. &c.
ON THEIR ARRIVAL AT, OR DEPARTURE FROM,
ANY OF THE PORTS OF
R U S S I A.

MASTERS of vessels, when they arrive in sight of the Guardship, which are placed at CRONSTADT, REVAL, &c. &c. are to hoist their Colours, and bring too, for the Purpose of the Guardship sending her Boat on Board, to make the necessary Enquiries, particularly whether the Merchantman has any Gunpowder on Board, and in case there is, the same will be removed on Board the Guardship, and there kept until the departure of the Merchantship, when it will be restored; but if concealed and afterward discovered; subject to very heavy penalties.

A Custom House vessel, which is always stationed close to the Guardship, then sends her Boat, and places an Officer on Board, where he continues until the Vessel reaches Cronstadt Mole, first putting Seals on the passengers Trunks, &c. &c. in which State they remain until sent to the Custom House at ST. PETERSBURGH, and there examined; which may be ten Days or a Fortnight first.

AS soon as vessels come to anchor at Cronstadt Mole, Captains are to go immediately to their Agent, and make a proper Report of their Cargoes, Ship's Crew, Names, and Number of Passengers, &c. and in their Manifest to specify every Thing on Board: Likewise on their Departure, Passports, particularizing their Cargoes, &c. will be required by the proper Officers at the Custom House and Admiralty.

PASSENGERS must produce their Passports to the Governor, or Commanding Officer, before they are permitted to leave Cronstadt, or any other Port in Russia they may arrive at: when they come to St. Petersburg, to go immediately to the General Police Master, produce their Pass, and shew him to whom they are recommended, their Business, &c. &c.

TRAVELLERS by Sea and Land are neither to arrive or depart without Passports; otherwise liable to detention, until the proper Officers are satisfied.

FIRST, Previous to departure, the Laws of RUSSIA require Persons of all Descriptions, to cause an Advertisement to be inserted in the public News-papers three times, in the Russian and German Languages, expressive of their Intention to depart the Country, their Profession, &c. agreeable to a Form prescribed; in order that all Persons having Claims may make them, and be satisfied before the Advertiser departs.

SECOND, A Memorial from the Ambassador or Consuls for the Country to which such Person belongs, must also be produced to the General Police Officer, who upon being satisfied therewith will grant him a Government Passport, if to Travel by Land; but if by Sea, the same Memorial will be required with the Government Pass ; as likewise one from the Admiralty, stating the number of days he or they are afterwards permitted to continue in the Metropolis, or elsewhere, &c. But if detained by sickness or any other unavoidable cause beyond the limited time, then Application must be again made, stating such cause, to the respective officers, and a fresh Passport will be granted.

OBSERVATIONS.

IN offering his observations upon the Commerce between Great Britain and Russia, the Author means not to enter into a wide field of remark, but to confine himself to such limits as come within his own knowledge and experience as a Merchant. His motive for undertaking this work arose only from a wish to render it servicable, as a Book of Commerce, upon a plan which he believes was never before submitted to the public; and for the correctness of the various statements of the Russia Products, as well as his endeavours to familiarise the Language to the English ear, he hopes to have credit.

The advantage resulting from a sincere, solid, and he trusts a permanent connection between the two Countries, is best manifested by the extent of the Commerce, which has been carried on, without interruption, for an almost unexampled length of time; the cement of union in Trade is mutual advantage: May the cement between England and Russia daily strengthen, and their intercourse increase, is the Authors fervent wish !

In stating that two-thirds of the Commerce of Russia, is with England, he trusts he will be found fully warranted in the observation ; a striking proof of the confidence entertained in the superior advantages of our Traffic, and the honour with which our engagements are fulfilled. Great as the Russian Empire is, and wonderful as her conquests have been in territory, her riches in produce are unfathomable, and her trade capable of an extension beyond human foresight to describe ; were instances wanting to establish this fact, many might be adduced, though none have appeared to me, more striking or satisfactory than what I have met with, in a candid and ingenious publication, by Mr. ANTHONY BROUGH, in the year 1789, a gentleman well known, and highly respected in the Mercantile world, entitled, "A View of the Importance of the Trade, between Great Britain and Russia," a work from which both instruction and pleasure may be derived.

If the Author, in the preceding pages has given a clear and comprehensive view of the Russian Trade with England, so as to operate as a stimulus to an active and increasing Commerce, and bind the connection still stronger, he will feel himself amply gratified: His motive was to serve the cause in which he is engaged, and if success attends his endeavours, he desires no better recompence, he wishes for no greater approbation.
